1. The black market center in Kaunas (23-55N, 54-09E) is known as the Talucka and is located in the Viliampole area.
2. Sovetsk (55-06N, 21-50E), Kaliningrad Oblast, has a large food market frequented by many black market dealers. Market days are on Sundays and on Tuesdays or Wednesdays.
3. Black market operators frequently buy pigs in the area around Panevezys (55-44N, 24-22E), butcher them, and take the meat to Marijampole (54-33N, 23-21E) or Kaunas for disposal. Generally, a profit of 1,000 to 1,300 rubles is made on the sale of meat from each animal.
4. In 1950 there was a potato famine in the Svventoji area (56-01N, 21-05E). Black market dealers took advantage of this by buying truckloads of potatoes in Marijampole and selling them around Svventoji.
5. British pounds, American dollars, and gold (Tsarist) rubles can be bought from Jewish black market operators. A Leica camera can be sold for 4,000 rubles. Linseed oil is a readily disposable product on the black market. Regulations require that it be produced only at government installations.
